Legendary Leo

As Tony Bennett crept across the French and German landscapes, exchanging fire with enemy soldiers, he could not have imagined the trajectory his life would soon take. He was born to poor Italian immigrants in New York City, just three years before the start of the Great Depression. Then, at the age of 18, he was drafted into the war. His sergeant in training camp didn't like him, and made it a point to work him harder than the others. Long story short, success was never handed to Tony on a silver platter. Yet something in him remained fixed and determined as he navigated the challenges of his early life.

Born on 3rd August, 1926, Anthony Dominick Benedetto is a Leo in the Chinese year of the Fire Tiger. It doesn't take a master astrologer to see what a potent combination this is! Leo, well-known for its steady hand and grace under pressure, is ruled by the Sun and personified by the Lion. It radiates energy in a fixed and determined way, never deviating from its path. Meanwhile, Tony's Chinese sign intensifies many of these same traits. The Tiger is courageous, noble, and a natural-born leader. Given this combination, it's probable that even before Tony took to the stage, he attracted attention. As a young man growing up in hard times, he would have been a bright spot for the people around him—a constant source of energy and warmth. But how did the universe conspire to bring his amazing talents and psychic energies into full expression?

It's not entirely true to say that Tony had no help finding his way into show business. On top of growing up in New York City, which is an advantage in itself, his Uncle was a tap dancer who gave him a personal glimpse into the world of entertainers. By the time Tony was 10 years old, he was already performing—most notably at the opening of the Triborough Bridge, where the Mayor of New York City listened to him sing and ruffled his hair. As is often the case with Leos, Tony's star was shining bright and early.

With talk show host Irv Kupcinet in the 1950s

Singing wasn't his only passion. He also showed talent in the visual arts, and began to study painting and music at the New York High School of Industrial Art. With moon in Gemini, Tony would have found it difficult to chase only one dream. As a sign of versatility, Gemini would have a definite role to play in his future. But before he could fully express his dual talents as a singer and painter, his fierce Leo and Tiger energies had to carry him through the war.

With the conflict over and Tony safely back in New York, the universe wasted no time in clearing the runway for his career. An early post-war gig in Greenwich Village found entertainer Bob Hope in the audience, who immediately recognised Tony's magnetism and invited him on tour. Four years and several hit records later, Tony was a bona fide star—so much so that when he married in 1952, two thousand female fans appeared outside a cathedral in New York, all dressed in black, to mourn the 'loss' of their favorite heartthrob.

Tony's Leo and Tiger energies now had all the room in the world to shine. He made the most of his rise to fame, basking in the spotlight and performing on stages around the world. Leo is a lover of attention, often behaving (like the Sun) as if the world revolves around it. Taken too far, this can lead to extreme self-centeredness—yet Tony exuded a timeless charm and class that harkened back to an earlier age. His growing fan base, particularly ladies, found his aura to be both friendly and irresistible.

One of Leo's weaknesses, however, soon caught up with Tony. As his fame and fortune grew, so did his appetites. Neither Leo nor Tiger are known for their talent in keeping budgets, and Tony's reckless spending soon landed him in serious financial trouble. With the debts piling up and the government breathing over his shoulder, the artist sought escape in drugs and alcohol. His classic image was not as fashionable as it used to be, and it seemed that this time, Tony was fighting a war within himself.

It was another characteristic shared by Leo and Tiger—that of family loyalty—that pulled Tony back from the brink of self-destruction. As it turns out, his son Danny had all the talent in business that he himself lacked. Tony's decision to put his career in Danny's hands turned out to be one of the best he ever made. Within a handful of years his debts were cleared, his fortune on the rise, and his image revitalised. Tony was once again recognised as a timeless treasure, and modern artists—everyone from Sting to Lady Gaga—were lining up to work with him.

Greeting Stevie Wonder at the White House in 2009

"If you study the masters," Tony says, "Picasso, Jack Benny, Fred Astaire – right up to the day they died, they were performing. If you are creative, you get busier as you get older."

Now approaching his 87th birthday, the records continue to fly off the shelves, and the paintings have earned him genuine respect in the art world. With a star that seems as irrepressible as the Sun, Tony is surely one of the great examples of Leo energy alive today.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 19)

Home improvement is not just a hobby; it can be a great way to cleanse your psychic energies! Look for things in your home environment that represent old pattern, and think of ways to replace or renew them. This simple activity has a domino effect, working its way through you and allowing you to see your situation in a different light. When things at home are made fresh and new, the effects reach out into other aspects of your daily life. Don't forget to compliment your lover on a recent change. After all, they've done it for you, and they want you to notice it! New love is possible this month, but it could have an unconventional beginning.

Taurus (Apr 20 - May 20)

Love can be a stern taskmaster—relationships are about sharing the weight of each others' worlds. Your partner and you have some work to do this month, but as long you work together, you'll find plenty to smile about. As for that new opportunity you've been seeking, perhaps your sights have been set too high. That which you need is close to home, hidden in plain view. Once you find it, a door will open to new horizons. A budding romantic prospect is unlikely to be discovered in a busy social gathering. However, someone who shows honesty in an everyday situation—not to mention a great smile—could easily end up in your contact book.

Gemini (May 21 - June 21)

Will bringing in more cash really make things different? Or will making things different bring in more cash? Since your money situation is a reflection of psychic energies, all you need to do is go within and your external world will begin to change. Discipline in diet and exercise are a perfect place to start; these will have a balancing effect on your spiritual world. Sticking to a routine is not always the easiest thing for you to do, but a trusted friend has the support you need to see it through. Slow and steady is the best approach to new love. Don't worry about pouring on the charm—the one you've got your eye on will make it easy for you.

Libra (Sept 23 - Oct 22)

There may never be a perfect time to start, so why not now? Your bright ideas can only become realities if you bring them into the light of day. Don't worry about every little detail. Trust the universe to meet you half-way, and it will. Your emotions are pulling you in different directions when it comes to love. What do you really want in a relationship? It's time to think things through logically. The heart rules the kingdom of romance, but the mind can be a good advisor. A new health discipline is unlikely to stick if you've taken it up as an emotional reaction to something else. Here again, the power of careful planning can help.

Scorpio (Oct 23 - Nov 21)

You'll find yourself on the disciplined side of things this month, which certainly has its merits. For starters, you'll get a lot done. But don't fall too far into the mindset of productivity. Living in the moment is, in a strange way, the most productive thing you can do. Finding the optimal balance between discipline and fun—structure and spontaneity—is not always easy, but always worthwhile. Freeing a block in your relationship is as simple as sharing your partner's enthusiasm for a new interest. As much as the past can bring you close together, new energy is what moves things forward and keeps love fresh.

Sagittarius (Nov 22 - Dec 21)

Since you are a natural explorer, you should have no trouble delving into the psychic mysteries that come into your world this month. Dreams and synchronicities are strong and meaningful, so follow the clues and embark on your own spiritual treasure hunt. The universe wants you to grow on all levels, and is showing you how to free up blocked energies. There's no need to take a trip when you can travel within yourself! Whether you're in a relationship or looking to start one, let your emotions shine through and carry the message of what you want to say. Your partner (or potential partner) will get the message and respond.

Cancer (June 22 - July 22)

You know as well as anyone that the heart and mind don't always agree. What makes sense to one does not always make sense to the other. The difference is, only one has the power to lead you astray. A new opportunity meets the logical criteria, but the true test is how you feel deep down. Tune in to your heart you can't go wrong. If you're in a relationship, the changes you want to make cannot come about until a past issue is addressed. Lingering heartache from a previous love must be acknowledged and released in order to move forward. If you're single, you won't have any problem attracting potential mates this month. Just be yourself.

Leo (July 23 - Aug 22)

With the sun in your sign, don't be surprised if you attract even more attention than you'd like—especially with your psychic sensitivity on overdrive. The good news is that with all this energy coming through you, a fresh new relationship will be easy to start. On the other hand, if you're already committed, be careful not to make your partner jealous. Your career situation gets better when you act naturally. Trying too hard to appear professional will only cause you to blend in. Better to let your individuality shine through and put the ball in someone else's court. As soon as you know you're worth it, others will too.

Is your partner telling you everything? There may be a secret or two lurking behind those lovely eyes—but before you get too excited, don't you have a secret or two of your own? The best way to find out what you want to know is to set a precedent and be honest about yourself. This will encourage your partner to open up and trust you. If you're single, beware of someone who offers an emotional rush without much to back it up. A prospect who moves slowly is more likely to cover the distance between two hearts. All things are possible in numbers. The more you branch out and become involved in the lives and causes of others, the more your own life and cause will be enriched.

Capricorn (Dec 22 - Jan 19)

It's all about relationships, whether romantic, business, or otherwise. Observe how other people in your life are mirrors in which you see aspects of yourself. It may or may not surprise you, but this won't always mean being as nice as possible! There will be at least one instance this month when you have to take a clear stand and be firm with someone who is out of line. This, too, is a healthy way of relating—as long as kindness is present somewhere inside you. A romantic prospect appears when you follow your beliefs and get involved with a noble cause. Stop chasing the butterfly and it will land on your shoulder.

Aquarius (Jan 20 - Feb 18)

Seeing things from another point of view is one of your strengths; the only disadvantage is that you sometimes lose sight of your own sovereign island. Feeling better on a day-to-day basis has been one of your concerns lately. Returning to the fundamentals of diet and exercise gives you the momentum you're looking for. Last month's professional setback is history; it's time to move forward with renewed vigour and show your stuff. This may seem cliché, but the gym could actually be a good place to meet someone this month. The energy of self-improvement and discipline can easily translate to Summer romance.

Pisces (Feb 19 - Mar 20)

You don't realise just how many strengths you have; look to someone who can see you in a different light, and listen to what they have to say. You might learn a thing or two about yourself, and be able to address your current situation with renewed optimism and determination. There are plenty of distractions at the moment. Sometimes the best thing is to simply be distracted! Spirit has its own timing and rhythm. As much as it likes to work and grow, it also likes to kick back and have fun. Love is eminently possible when you allow your free-spirited side to show. Isn't that what Summer is all about?

Dating the Lion ♌

All Leos have a bit of rock star in them. But if you can handle the ego, you'll find a sensitivity that will melt your heart.

Just like a cat, they draw attention by the way they walk. Actually, it can be a little intimidating. The good news is, if you aren't keen on making the first move, Leo often will. An admiring glance in their direction will lead them right to you, and their supreme confidence will break the ice automatically. So what's the bad news? Your Leo may come across as cocky, egotistic, or even self-obsessed. But if you go deeper, you'll find store of treasure that's fit for a king.

R-E-S-P-E-C-T

Leo is endowed with natural sense of royalty. It loves to be noticed and adored. Translation? Acting like you're not impressed won't get you very far. Leo's got it going on, and you both know it, so why pretend otherwise? You don't need to shower them with praise. They have a talent for reading body language and subtle cues—but one way or another, you must let them know that their magnificence is not lost on you. Wound a Leo's pride and your chances dip toward zero. Stroke their ego and they'll purr all day.

Dress up, Get Out, Hands-On

To see and be seen is not so much a preference for Leo as a gnawing hunger. Dinner and a movie might work occasionally, but Leo is like a big kitten that wants to play. It will grow restless sitting in a dark theater or cooped up at home. Interactive outings like amusement parks, sports events or fashion shows are the answer. Think energy, crowds, excitement! When it's time to choose a restaurant or a bar, make it someplace warm and classy. A small and thoughtful gift, tastefully presented, will have them eating out of your hand. Want to rack up serious points? Put that little extra effort into your appearance. Whether the occasion is formal or not, pretend the paparazzi are waiting outside. Of course, if you're going out with a Leo, there's always a chance the paparazzi actually are waiting outside, in which case you won't have to pretend!

With a Leo, accepting adoration is just as important as giving it. If you can't take a compliment, your Leo will quickly grow frustrated. One of the greatest things they can teach you is that you are great, and you do deserve the best. These cats love the little gestures—such as holding the door for someone—that make our world a more civilised place. They are social and like to see you engaging others, but they only want to share your affections up to a point. If you cross the line into flirtation, and put someone else center stage, Leo will exact a psychological price.

Love and partnership

Once you've made it into a relationship, the Lion will stand in your corner and roar at anyone who rubs you the wrong way. Physical touching—especially a sensuous back rub—is one of Leo's favourite indulgences, and a great way to calm them down. When the lights go out, you'll find a blend of passion and playfulness that seems way too good to be true. Your Leo may have a self-obsessive and argumentative streak, but at the end of the day, his or her heart is pure gold. Just make sure you don't become complacent. When you stop adoring a Leo, your privileged place in the royal court will likely to become a thing of the past.

Elements of Seduction

There are distinct styles of seduction associated with each astrological element. By understanding them, you can make improvements to your own technique, and better understand how others try and seduce you.

Earth signs (Taurus, Virgo, Capricorn) will usually take a practical, polite and honest approach toward taking you home. Whether they are looking for something casual or long-term, earth signs are keen to lay the cards on the table and let the chips fall where they may. Expect an earth sign to be honest about their intentions, but in a pleasing and classy way. Their calmness and keep-it-real attitude can be a huge turn-on in a world of hidden intentions and cheesy pick-up lines.

Earth signs are best at seducing water signs and other earth signs. The wild card is air, which can cause a sudden bout of passion that fizzles quickly. Earth signs can improve their seduction style by using a bit more imagination and mystery to entice potential lovers.

Fire signs (Aries, Leo, Sagittarius) are all about sweeping you off your feet. Once they decide to try and seduce you, they go all-out with little or no hesitation.

Their self-confidence and sheer heat is inspiring, but it makes their seductive style completely hit or miss. If you fall for their red-hot tactics, you'll fall hard. But if a fire sign approaches the wrong person, or catches you on a bad day, their direct approach can make for a seriously uncomfortable moment.

Fire signs are especially talented when it comes to seducing air signs and other fire signs. The wild card is earth, which can lead to a sexy battle of the wills. Fire signs can improve their seduction style by taking a deep breath and counting to ten before zeroing in on their target. This brings a touch of earthiness and air into their approach.

Air signs (Gemini, Libra, Aquarius) are masters of the art of flirtation. They know how to use words, gestures and ideas to hold your interest and keep you guessing. An air sign will sometimes approach you in a way that seems gimmicky or staged, but give them a chance to flaunt their spontaneity, and you'll have a hard time looking away. Since they consider directness to be quite boring, air signs will use oblique methods of getting their message across. Read between the lines and you just might end up between the sheets.

Air signs are best at getting the attention of fire signs and other air signs. The wild card is water, which can create a strong psychic bond that leads to mind-blowing passion. Air signs can improve their seduction style by adding some good old-fashioned honesty to their approach.

Water signs (Cancer, Scorpio, Pisces) have the highest degree of sensitivity to body language, facial expressions, and yes—even thoughts! They have a better chance of knowing what you are thinking than other elements, and when it comes to seducing you, they'll certainly use this to their advantage. Expect a water sign to demonstrate a deeper, psychic connection as a means of getting up-close and personal. If you find yourself saying, 'How did you know that?', you may be dealing with a water sign.

Water signs have a gift when it comes to flirting with earth signs and other water signs. The wild card is fire, which can trigger a deep emotional connection. Water signs can improve their seduction style by remembering to laugh and keep things light. This prevents their potential lovers from thinking they

Psychic Janette Anne

I first became aware I was psychic when I was a little girl, and I started having dreams that came true. I've been working with my gifts for as long as I can remember. I bought my first deck of tarot cards when I was 13, and have been working with the energy of the cards ever since. I love to connect to spirit—I also love to do stage work, mediumship demonstrations, and teach workshops in psychic development. Psychic work is my passion! For me it's not work—it's who I am.

I always give my best to every client, and do all I can to provide the clearest psychic guidance possible. When a client says "thank you" at the end of the reading, it's such an amazing feeling.

To me, providing you with a great psychic reading is all about clarity, insight and validation. This means connecting with your energy, and with the help of my guides, giving an honest empathic reading that helps you overcome any worries you may have. I never judge anyone—I'm here to offer my psychic abilities to help you.
